

The mission of the Fashion Scholarship Fund is to advance the fashion industry by encouraging gifted and enterprising young people to pursue careers in design, merchandising, retailing and business, ensuring the industry will continue to attract dedicated, capable and creative individuals. For more, please see <http://www.ymafsf.org/>.

What Winners Say:

YMA has provided me an opportunity to put everything I have learned in our TAM classes to use. The case study mirrors real ideas business professionals are trying to implement. Not only do you receive the scholarship money, but YMA continues their support though hosting numerous networking events, the internship fair and the Breakfast with the Boss series over the summer. Never did I think I would be able to talk to the top positions at so many highly respected companies in the industry. Allison Dameron, '17 BS TAM

Receiving the YMA FSF Scholarship Award has been a great experience. It enabled me to network with industry professionals and exposed me to many companies and job opportunities. Molly Brenner, '17 BS TAM

This year, three amazing Mizzou TAM students received the highly competitive YMA Fashion Scholarships – Courtney Norris ('17 BS TAM), Allison Dameron ('17 BS TAM), and Molly Brenner ('17 BS TAM). Each received $5,000 scholarship, went to 2017 YMA FSF Award Gala in New York City, gained opportunities to internships, and got to learn from individual mentors. The relationships continues with industry leaders. The person on this photo is Peter Sachse, the Chief Growth Officer at Macy's. He is also the current president of the YMA FSF board.

What Winners Say:

My YMA experience has exposed me to so many different companies and top leadership in the apparel industry. It has been my proudest moment in my college career and has lead me to amazing opportunities to pursue after graduation. Courtney Norris ('17 BS TAM)